HRSA FUNDING

We recently received new funding from SAMHSA Center for Mental Health Services for the project “JMSW Behavioral Health Workforce Education Training Grant.” The Joint Master of Social Work Program is accredited until 2020 by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). Jointly offered by UNCG and the North Carolina A&T State University, it has about 100 JMSW students per year. The program is committed to educating future social work clinicians who are committed to social justice and diversity and inclusion. Its recent shift to a multicultural clinical model and the current behavioral health service delivery system in North Carolina necessitates that students be trained to practice interprofessionally.

Effective August 2015, the HRSA grant will provide selected field practicum students with a $10,000 competitive stipend. Eligible students will be in their advanced year of the JMSW program (advanced standing or second year) and have a desire to be trained in practice with children, adolescents and transitional aged youth who are at risk for behavioral health problems.

Applicants will receive HRSA information after acceptance into the JMSW program. Current students will receive information for applying for a stipend in the Spring Semester.
