

ATTENTION UNC-G Students!

Considering graduate school?
Want research experience?

The African American Family Strengths and Strategies (AAFSS) Research Lab is recruiting students!

The AAFSS lab is looking for students who love working with diverse children and families, and who are interested in socio-cultural issues.

Skills you'll need:

- Must be organized
- Must be reliable
- Must be highly motivated
- Must be able to work at least 5 hours per week (hours are flexible!)

What you'll do:

- Help design studies
- Assist in implementing interventions
- Collect, organize, and enter data
- Attend weekly lab meetings
- May include some data analysis and library/internet research

If you are interested, please contact Shakeira Causey at stcausey@uncg.edu