

JOINT PROGRAMS IN SOCIAL WORK

Preliminary Information about the Joint Doctor of Philosophy in Social Work Program

Thanks for your interest in the Joint Doctor of Philosophy (JPhD) program offered by North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University (NCAT and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (UNCG). This program is expected to begin Fall 2019 and is currently pending SACSCOC (Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges) approval. As with any new program, there are many details to work out and we are diligently addressing them this fall. You will find below some responses to frequently asked questions that may help you as you consider applying to the program. As we get more detailed information, we will be posting it on our new website, which is in development.

1. What options do the JPhD program offer?

The JPhD program plans to offer full-time and part-time options for students.

Full-time students will take 9 credit hours (three classes) per semester in Academic Years 1 and 2. Full time students can complete coursework in 4 semesters during academic years.

Part-time students will take 6 credit hours per semester (i.e., two classes in fall and two classes in spring) and 6 hours (two classes) in the summer. The coursework can be completed in 4 semesters and 2 summers.

In the fall and spring semesters, both full-time and part-time students will be in two classes together to promote a collaborative and cohesive cohort. We will have a suggested plan of study at the information meeting (see below).

Following the completion of coursework, students must pass written and oral comprehensive exams and write and defend the dissertation proposal. At that point, the student is considered All But Dissertation (ABD) and will write and defend the dissertation while being enrolled in dissertation hours, which is part of the requirement to complete the degree.

2. What does the JPhD program look like for a student living outside of Greensboro, NC?

At this time, the JPhD program is not offered online. Students will be required to come to the campuses of NCAT and UNCG to take classes. We have not finalized a class schedule, but we anticipate a mixture of day and evening classes. We hope to have this more final in early spring 2019.

3. What is the residency requirement?

As mentioned above, in order to complete classes, students must be able to come to campus. Once a student begins dissertation hours, residency is not required. There will be in-state and out-of-state tuition. You can find residency requirements on the university websites.

4. When is the deadline to apply?

At this point, the application deadline is March 15, 2019. We realize this is later than other programs but during this year of establishing the program, we are unable to move this deadline to an earlier date. The application link will be made available once we have the website established.

5. What are the application requirements?

- Application to the Graduate School and Application Fee

- Official copies of all undergraduate and graduate school transcripts. Preferred undergraduate grade point average of 3.0 or above and graduate school grade point average of 3.5 or above

- Three academic or professional references that attest to the student's academic ability, nature of work performance, commitment to social work values, and ability to conduct scholarship

- GRE scores (taken within the last 5 years)

- Resume/Curriculum vita that demonstrates the student's:
 - a. Education
 - b. Substantive areas of expertise or interest
 - c. Professional positions
 - d. Teaching or training experiences
 - e. Research or grant experiences
 - f. Professional publications and presentations
 - g. Professional affiliations, honors, awards
 - h. Service

- Personal statement that includes the following:
 1. Describe your professional goals
 2. Describe your previous professional/academic experience and how that impacts your potential for engaging in doctoral-level scholarship
 3. Describe your interest in the Joint Ph.D. in Social Work Program
 4. Describe your research interest and tentative plan for research

- Include a sample of professional writing such as a research proposal, grant application, academic or professional report, or publication that demonstrates intellectual potential
- Note that interviews may be required

6. When is the information meeting?

We are holding a rescheduled information meeting on North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University's campus from 10am-12pm on January 26th, 2019 in Gibbs Hall, room 123. Please RSVP here: <https://goo.gl/forms/5EL11pweEiTS6g5i1>

7. Will the program allow transfer credit hours or a degree other than social work?

We are not allowing transfer credits at this time. We are requiring that applicants have an MSW from an accredited institution; however, there may be some exception to this in certain cases. If an applicant has a strong background in social work or social services without an MSW, we may consider the application. All applicants must have a graduate degree in order to apply.

8. What are the costs, and will there be financial aid?

At this point, the two universities are working out the final costs of the program. We will have limited financial awards for students who are attending the program full time (9 hours per semester). We are hoping that there may be some other grant funded awards, but we do not have them at this time. Students should be able to apply for financial aid. Note that the approximate cost is estimated at approximately $3700 per semester for 9 credit hours and approximately $2600 per semester for 6 credit hours.

9. Where do I obtain more information regarding the program?

As mentioned above, once we have the website built, we will post information there. Also, we encourage you to attend the information session on December 8th.

ELECTIVES (12 CREDIT HOURS)

In order to honor the student's individual professional goals and aspirations, the primary advisor will assist the student in selecting courses that fulfill the student's professional interests and development. Students may consider areas of specialization as they refine their interests. This could include the many professional development courses offered through the School of Health and Human Sciences, certificate programs related to social work, specialized coursework in pedagogy, or an interdisciplinary research focus. (SOWK/SWK 885 Issues and Trends in Social work may be repeated 1 time for a total of 6 credits.) Students may select courses from NCA&T or UNCG.

DISSERTATION (15 CREDIT HOURS)

After successful defense of the dissertation proposal, students will complete dissertation research and writing, culminating in a successful oral defense of the dissertation.
